The University of Montana women's volleyball team will participate in the Western Washington State College Invitational Saturday in Bellingham, Washington.

A total of nine teams from throughout the Northwest will be represented. Participating besides UM and host WWSC are British Columbia Institute of Technology, Central Washington State College, Eastern Washington State College, University of British Columbia, University of Victoria, University of Washington and Washington State University.

According to Coach Jodi Leslie, UM will be meeting several of the teams for the first time this season and won't be aware of their reputations. However, unbeaten EWSC is a familiar opponent for the Montana squad. UM has not scored a victory over EWSC this season.

Saturday's matches will be the last ones before the Pacific Northwest Tournament. Following the WWSC Invitational, Montana will have a week off before completing the season at the Pacific Northwest Tournament on the Oregon College of Education campus November 30 and December 1.

The starting lineup Saturday will be Anne Appleby, Vicki Brown, Debbie Pogue, Cindy Simmons, Julie Yanchisin, and Paula Ziemkowski. Providing the bench strength will be Susan Huffman, Vicky Nicholas and Adrienne Peterson.
